KAISER'S NEW ORDER.

London, Jan. 21.—A Berlin dispatch to the Daily Mail says the emperor has decreed that henceforth no army officer is to take the arm of his wife or any other woman while walking.

If there is to be any holding of arms the woman must do it. The new order is inspired by the emperor's belief that leaning for support on the arm of a woman companion is not conducive to a manly bearing.

STUDENT OF THE HIGH SCHOOL IN REPLY TO BATTELL

Editor of The Standard: Those people of Ogden who read The Standard evidently feel that it is up to the high school to clear itself in the matter of published letters.

In the issue of January 19, your paper publishes a letter over the signature of one Eugene A. Battell. We welcome Mr. Battell to the controversy and hope also that this may be a final letter to clear up everything.

Let it be understood that we wish to contradict nothing which we said in our first article. We did "resent the publication of an article because of misstatement of fact and a predominating tinge of personal animosity." We showed where the facts had been misrepresented. Enough for that. Regarding the "predominating tinge of personal animosity," we said nothing and the only reason we can offer for saying nothing is that we wished to save the lady in the case from any attending embarrassment. However, if Mr. Battell wishes the facts in this matter he can find us on application at the principal's office in the high school.

We heartily thank Mr. Battell for assuring us that the citizens have no quarrel with the students and we will endeavor to be worthy the support of the citizens of Ogden.

Yes "compel" is a hard word. Perhaps it is "sugar-coated" in high school but it seems to us that the people who succeed are the people who compel by means of sugarcoated words and deeds. Direct compulsion always meets opposition.

And the author is right when he says that we "have taken our kindergarten from the Germans." Probel was by far the greatest German kindergartener and introduced an "infant culture system" into Germany. But facts show that he was in turn a pupil of Pestalozzi, a Swiss educational reformer, who originated the idea of teaching children between the ages of 4 and 6 years. So we feel that borrowing in turn is not the same as taking a system which a country has originated. And our system is not a copy of any other. Regarding this matter, the latest edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica says: "But by far the greatest development of the kindergartens has been in the United States and Belgium." Dr. William T. Harris, an American, has in all probability, done more work for the kindergartens than any other person.

In closing let us repeat what we said in our first article: "We are not supporting the half-day system, neither are we opposing it." If anyone has anything to say regarding the half-day system kindly direct it to the proper authorities, and kindly remember that the high school is still able to defend itself on matters which pertain to the head of Ogden's educational system and to it alone.

SCANDINAVIANS AT FIFTH WARD

The entertainment given at the Fifth ward amusement hall last night under the auspices of the Danish Brotherhood, was a complete success. There were over 200 Scandinavians and their friends present and a high class entertainment was given.

The program, during the forepart of the evening, was given by John Hersking and Jutta Lund, who have been touring the United States during a leave of absence from their posts in the Royal Opera house of Copenhagen, Denmark. Their part of the program consisted of a number of solos and duets, both classic and popular and a playlet entitled "Fritz and Lizzie."

The songs were finely interpreted and the couple received numerous encores. The playlet was enthusiastically received.

Following the program, dancing was enjoyed until midnight.

FIRE DESTROYS THE PLAIN CITY HOME OF STREETER

The home of Clark Streeter at Plain City was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning. The fire started about 4 o'clock and by daylight the building was a smoking ruin. Little was saved, two rugs, three chairs and a few clothes being about all. No one was injured though Mr. Streeter made his escape from the burning building by jumping from an upper window.

The exploding of an oil lamp caused the fire. This occurred at about 11 o'clock in the evening as Mr. Streeter sat in the house reading. Quite a blaze was started at that time, but with the help of a neighbor, Mr. Streeter succeeded in controlling the fire before much harm was done. Mrs. Streeter and the children then went to the neighbor's for the rest of the night while Mr. Streeter remained at home to watch the place. No signs of fire reappearing, Mr. Streeter, in the weary, lonely hours, fell asleep, waking at about 4 o'clock to find his home wrapped in flames.

The Streeter home was a modern, eight-room, handsome cottage. It was built two years ago. Some insurance was carried upon both building and furniture.

The loss is estimated at $3000.

Rosemary Theby, who recently left the Vitagraph Co., is back again. She will appear in Lubin's two-reel feature, "A Question of Night," supported by Harry Meyers, at the Globe Tomorrow, continuing till Saturday. Coming soon, "Checkers," a big one in five parts, watch for the date.

INTEREST IN THE PURE FOOD SHOW IS INCREASING

The crowds in attendance at the Pure Food show in the Parry building are increasing daily and the displays are creating much interest. The Panama canal show, the glassblowers and the palmist are coming in for a large share of attention from both the old and young.

This afternoon the Ogden high school band is furnishing special music for the show and, incidentally, to show what is being done at the high school in this line of work. The band was stationed in the section of the room allotted to the displays of the domestic arts and science and manual training of the high and junior high schools. The displays have received much favorable comment from the many who have examined the work of the students.

Two new booths have been added to those in position yesterday, the exhibitors being the Fleischman Yeast company and George Thimmes who is making a fine display of apple cider. Samples of local products are being dispensed at a number of the booths. The Shupe-Williams Candy company is giving away samples of a fine grade National and Utahna chocolates, the Crystal Bottling works is disposing of apple, orange, cherry and blackberry cider and different kinds of soda water, the Blackman & Griffin company is serving fresh buttermilk, and the Utah Sugar manufacturers are giving away candy. The Jello company booth is proving a special attraction to the ladies with a service of fancy dishes made from its product, and in the adjoining booth, the Violet Oats company is serving mush and pancakes.

The serving of Pierce's pork and beans at the booth of the Utah Canning company is meeting with favor by all who are fortunate enough to get within reach of it, and the Baker Chocolate company is serving cocoa. The McDonald Candy company is making known non-boil cocoa at their booth near the entrance of the show room.

Samples of all kinds of pickles are being served by the Superior Horseradish and Pickle company, and the Agnew Cheese company is dispensing its product.

The train was in charge of Assistant Superintendent George Golder of the Southern Pacific and the hunt will be under the direction of Chief W. I. Norton. The party expects to make a big killing and will return to Ogden about 8 p. m.
